Dear Parents and Carers,

With kindness having been a focus of the week for everyone within school, (further information about this on the next page), children have also been fully embracing the learning opportunities available to them in class ranging from learning instruments, engaging with science experiments or grappling with Maths concepts. In fact, four pupils from Year 4 spent Wednesday afternoon wrestling with Maths problems as they represented our school at a Maths Challenge held at Lambrook School. Despite not winning the event they acquitted themselves incredibly well against over 30 schools and they should feel proud of their efforts to access and engage with such a high level of Maths learning.

If you do however want to know more about the wider curriculum that is taught here at Wildridings ranging from Nursery all the way up to Year 6, why not take a look at the year group pages on our website. Alternatively, if you would prefer to look at the curriculum through the lens of each subject and the expectations and progress of children over time the curriculum areas are there too.

Thank you to those parents who were able to come along to the Phonics Workshop led by Miss Cole yesterday as the importance of developing a love of reading together how you can best support your child at home is vital to enable progress across all areas of the curriculum. Also, it was lovely to see so many of you engage with the adults on school site after school on Tuesday who are part of the Involve Partnership. As a school we want to play a key role in our community and to do this we want to build meaningful relationships with other community groups and we are looking forward to further collaboration with the Involve Partnership over the months ahead.

And finally, as a school community we came together with Rev Gareth at 11am on Tuesday to observe 2 minute's silence to mark Remembrance Day, (as shown in the photo below), and it was a real privilege because it was impeccably observed by all and they really did embody the school value of respect.

Have a lovely weekend.

Mr B Ellis – Headteacher

Christmas Arrangements

With the half-term well and truly in full swing, it won't be long until attentions turn to Christmas so please see the 'Diary Dates' above which have the dates and times of Christmas Performances throughout the school but more specific details will be sent nearer the time. Also, in a change to previous years, school will remain open until normal time on the last day of this term and all future terms, in order to ensure consistency for children and any wider care arrangements that families may have in place.

Have you noticed any changes in SEND services in Bracknell Forest? Our latest survey is now open and we're asking parent carers of pupils with SEND to share their views on how Health, Education, and Social Care services are working for children and young people with SEND in Bracknell. We want to hear from YOU, even if you cannot find any improvements!

'Kindness is Infectious'

During our whole school assembly to help launch 'Kindness Week' we explored what might be meant by the term 'kindness is infectious.' Children were certainly aware that if you show kindness towards a person they are more likely to then be kind to someone else and this spread of kindness has certainly happened at our school this week. Whether it was started through the respectful conversations that took place about the choice of 'Odd Socks,' classes participating in the 25 Acts of Kindness challenge, children paying to take part in the 'sweets in a jar' game to help School Council fundraise, (and the correct amount still hasn't been chosen so there's still time to enter), the generous contributions of Advent Calendars to support Berkshire Women's Aid or donating money to wear pyjamas, it has been great to see the spread of happiness throughout the school. The total raised for Children in Need today was £313 so a big thankyou for your support of this charity and all of the other initiatives this week, it really is appreciated.
